Give the City Meat Market a trial. Silk parasites at greatly reduced prices at Ziegler Bros.

Fresh and tender meats of all kind at the City Meat Market.

Taliaferro Bros. are selling for cash. Do not ask for credit.

Last Thursday night a baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dad Grambles.

Mel Richardson, of the Block ranch, spent Sunday in town en route to Kansas City.

Al Parker received a couple of parrots last week from Mexico, with compliments of Joe. Greishaber.

Ladies' untrimmed and trimmed hats will go at give away prices for the next ten days at Ziegler Bros.

Mr. Beckwith, the Singer Sewing machine agent, of Las Cruces, rustled in this vicinity several days this week.

R. L. Young, the well known attorney of Las Cruces, spent several days last week looking after his mining interests here.

Prices on a good many articles have been reduced at Taliaferro Bros. They are selling strictly for cash and can afford to do so.

Wm. Goff, Will McComas, and Joe, Wall and Pete Gum went out to the Capitan saw mill last Monday and are expected back to-day.

Rev. I. N. Crutehfield, who some years ago was dubbed the "Sinner Saver," was in town last Saturday and is now camped for the summer on the Bonito.

Chas. Whitman and Jas. Hervey of Roswell came up last Sunday for a short visit. They report the roads almost impassable, and it took them four days to make the trip which can usually be accomplished in a day and a half.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Parker returned last Thursday afternoon from their trip to St. Louis and the World's Fair. Mrs. E. W. Parker is visiting at Penn Yan, N. Y., and is not expected home until late in the fall.

Last week some Indians on the reservation killed a wild animal, presumably a leopard from its description, which had just killed and eaten a horse and was chewing up a burro when its career was brought to an abrupt termination.

The public meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held next Monday evening at the M. E. church. Mr. Lund will deliver a short temperance lecture and there will also be a number of excellent musical selections after which refreshments will be served free. All are extended a cordial welcome.

Joe Capuano, the Italian shoemaker, a short time ago offered to dispose of his property here for $250, because of the high altitude and dry climate, but since his recent experience with our rainy season he has come to the conclusion that neither extreme suits him and he now offers to sell out for $150.

Geo. L. Hopping, of the Eagle, unquestionably the best all around and artistic printer in the Territory, left last Sunday for a week's visit to his old home at Albuquerque. It is a fortunate circumstance that the distance from Carthage to the Duke City is short or otherwise George must have found the walking, or possibly a seat on the blind baggage, rather wearisome.

Misses Gunn and McCourt, after a very pleasant visit of about ten days with Miss Goodin at her mother's ranch near Three Rivers, returned last Friday accompanied by their young hostesses, who remained in town until Sunday. Miss Goodin is arranging to leave soon for the World's Fair, after which she will enter a seminary in Missouri for the coming school year.

Some of the soldiers at the post must have been "hit" hard by the recent visit of a trio of White Oaks' young ladies, judging from the flood of letters arriving at this office for publication, in which the aforesaid young ladies are profusely thanked for their pleasant visit and requested to come again soon, etc. Sorry to disappoint you, boys, but we're not running a matrimonial journal at present.

Last Thursday afternoon when the arroyos for miles about here were running full of water, Joe and Will Gunn who were returning from the Capitan mountains attempted to cross a rather wide stream about nine miles from town. The crossing, however, had been very badly washed out and the water was six or seven feet deep. The result was that their buggy was totally wrecked, while Will had a close call for his life.

During the days of bank failures and financial distress the Eagle finds consolation in the fact that it has no great cash surplus to lose. All of its assets are tied up in the pockets of delinquents who will come up smiling as soon as our "dog days" extra session satisfactorily adjusts the silver question on a basis of 16 to 1, though in a large number of instances it is feared that the suspension of payment is a permanent one. We are all in the same boat at present and should stand by each other. A brighter day will dawn poco tiempo.

Serious trouble has been encountered in the Old Abe well because of the high water during the past week, the drill hole having become filled with sand and mud, clogged the pump. The casing has been pulled out but they haven't succeeded in extracting the pump cylinder from the bottom of the drill hole as yet. However, the artesian pump belonging to Mr. Watson has been brought over from Vera Cruz and will be put to work today on the large body of water in the well shaft and tunnel, which will keep the mill running until the other portion of the well is put in working condition.

Murder Most Foul!

Wah Sing, a Chinese Laundryman, Slughtered in Cold Blood. Robbery Supposed to have been the Object.

A FIENDISH DEED.

Last Tuesday night about 8:30 o'clock this city was startled by one of the most dastardly of bloody murders; Wah Sing, a very quiet, inoffensive Chinaman, being the victim.

The crime was discovered almost immediately after being committed. Col. Fiske, Dug Younger and M. W. Hoyle, were passing the Chinaman's laundry and hearing groans within at once suspected something. Fiske tried the door and finding it locked, attempted to break it in but without success. He then suggested that Constable Langston be found which was accomplished in a very few moments. While waiting for Langston's arrival, a noise was heard at the back of the house and man was seen to jump the fence and rapidly disappear in the darkness.

The nature of the crime, being unknown and neither of the remaining parties being armed, they did not pursue the scoundrel.

When Capt. Langston arrived, he and a number of others entered the house by the back door, which stood open, and found Wah Sing lying in a pool of blood on the floor in the room fronting the street. It was a horrible sight and a more dastardly deed was never perpetrated in White Oaks. The poor victim was still alive, though unconscious, when found but expired only a few moments afterward. His head was terribly mutilated; the skull being smashed as though with a blunt instrument; a fearful gash, extending from the right corner of his mouth to the back of the neck, which severed the jugular vein, and two smaller cuts on the left side of his face, bore evidence of the desperation of the murderer.

Robbery, evidently, was the motive for the crime though it is not known whether any booty was secured or not. When found the Chinaman had a pocketbook grasped in his hand which contained $22.45. It seemed to be the general impression that Wah Sing had considerable money secreted about the premises, but the Eagle learns that all his earnings were sent regularly to China for the support of his wife and children, hence it is more than probable that this $22.45 was all he had. At all events it is evident that the murderer must have been searching away almost immediately after accomplishing his bloody work, or he would have taken the pocket book.

The news spread rapidly and soon excited groups of men were gathered about the laundry looking for some clue to trace the human devil. Numerous parties with lanterns spent a large part of the night following various foot prints without avail. The search continued yesterday, but the murderer seems to have covered up his tracks pretty well and made good his escape.

From his knowledge of the premises and various other evidences it is believed the murderer is a resident here, yet it doesn't seem possible that any one capable of committing so foul an act could come within the scope of our acquaintance and his true character not become known. Every effort will be made to apprehend him, for no one will feel safe with such a fiend turned loose in our midst.

A coronor's inquest was held yesterday morning, the finding being in accordance with the foregoing. Wah Sing was buried in the afternoon.

The feeling among our people is intense and today a subscription paper is being circulated for the purpose of raising a reward of several hundred dollars to aid in the apprehension and conviction of the murderer. The Governor will also be requested to add a liberal reward in the interest of the Territory.

W. C. T. U.

The next public meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Monday, Aug. 14th at the Methodist church at 7:45 p. m. At the last meeting of the W. C. T. U. held Aug. 1st, the following officers were elected to serve for the six months commencing Sept. 1st: President, Mrs. A. H. Lund; vice presidents, Mrs. A. A. Hurd and Mrs. S. R. McPherson; secretary, Mrs. Jeanie O. Parker; treasurer, Miss Vera Gunn.

While John Ozanne was out rustling cattle yesterday morning on Lone Mountain, his dogs freed a big puma or mountain lion, but not being armed, Ozanne left the dogs on guard and hurriedly rode back to town for a rifle. Returning, accompanied by John Davis and Charles Woods, he fetched Mr. Lion down from his perch with a few well directed shots and brought him in. The animal was a magnificent creature, measured 7 feet 4 inches in length and weighed 121 pounds.

THEY PLAYED BALL.

But Some of the Boys Couldn't Catch a Ball With a Seize or Make a Tally With a Pencil.

Last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the base ball grounds, C. D. Parham fractured the quiet Sabbath air with a vociferous "play ball." And then began the great battle between White Oaks and Nogal.

The afternoon was pleasantly warm and sufficiently cloudy to cast a grateful shade and modify the heat of the sun. The bleachers were crowded early in the game; about 200 spectators being present.

The Nogal team chose the field and the play proceeded. At J. Ozanne stepped lightly to the plate squared himself and swiped his first ball into right field for a base hit. John McCourt was next to bat, but Johnny scorned the balls and was gracefully retired after three unsuccessful attempts. Meanwhile A. J. was deftly stealing bases. Will McComas and the next victim. He found the ball all right for a little grounder, but curious enough the sphere reached first base just prior to his arrival there. Needless to say he also failed. Ozanne was busy about this time and seemed a real. Les Brookings fanned out, retiring the nine.

The Nogal boys didn't start out very auspiciously. They couldn't "shorter" out in sixing up on Ozanne's delivery. Mit Greaves, the valiant first baseman, bravely faced the enemy, and made a vicious upper cut at his first ball. He got it but so did Al Ozanne. That wound up Mit. Minor Taylor rapped off a short grounder to John Gunn who settled his prospects for a run by a neat put out at first. Harvey Bonnell had the same experience as his predecessors and died on first.

The clubs changed places. John Gunn to bat with Em Ozanne on deck. John spit on his hands, grasped the willow and popped up a pretty fly to first base. In other words he flew out. Em next tackled the position over the home plate and sent the ball winding up to the left field. He cashed out two bases. Thus encouraged, Pete Gunn walked till he got a good ball and then awaited it for three bases. Pete tarried not on route till his beard grew, but hastened onward and arrived at third on his chest protector. Meanwhile Ozanne scored. Gunn singled out some fearful holes in the atmosphere but couldn't find the ball. Edberry got his form in the way of the ball, but it was as good as a safe hit, and he took his first base. Al Ozanne then pounded out a single and Edberry went to second. Johnny McCourt here released himself and slugged the ball out into left field. He got first and this filled the bases. The excitement at this point was intense and great responsibility rested on McComas. He made a noble stab and popped up a short fly, but Bonnell nailed it, retiring the side.

The third boy failed to score during this inning and likewise failed in the next. In the third and fourth innings the White Oaks boys were sifted out in one, two and three order. In the last half of the fourth inning Joe Real of the Nogal club covered himself with glory by scoring the first run.

The W. O. followed with two more runs. The visitors then proceeded to pounce the ball all over the diamond. Wardman hit safely to first; Greaves knocked the cover off for a single while Wardman went to second. Gaylord got quite lanky with the bat and scraped up an intimate acquaintance with the ball for a line two to base. Wardman and Greaves waiting. Bonnell flew out to Al Ozanne while Taylor scored. Henderson took three successive runs in the air and the side was out.

The following shows the score complete: WHITE OAKS. NOGAL. Gunn, Em. 0. Bonnell, Ozanne, Pete. 0. Wardman, McComas. 1-4. Greaves, Ozanne, A. J. 0. Little, Taylor, 0. 0. Grambles, Gunn, John. 0. 0. Gaylord, A. J. 0. 0. Gaylord, W. Bonnell, 0. 0. Henderson, Edberry. 0. 0. Resol. WHITE OAKS. 1 2 0 0 2 4 4 0 4. 17. NOGAL. 0 0 0 1 3 1 0 2 1. 8.

Both sides developed considerable rank playing, though for the most part it was a fine game, and numbered a few very brilliant plays. Sid Grambles' hitting was an interesting feature of the game, regarding which, some one remarked, "I guess that ball must be a relative of Sid's, or he wouldn't be so careful not to strike the poor thing."
